Essential Action	1.1 Develop campus instructional leaders with clear roles and responsibilities.	5.3 Data-driven instruction.	2.1 Recruit, select, assign, induct and retain a full staff of highly qualified educators.
Rationale	We have non-instructional staff managing instructional staff- roles have not been clearly defined	Keeping data at the forefront of everything we do on campus is vital to our success, I see consistency with gathering data, analyzing data, and using data correctly as a challenge with an entire new lead team.	This school has had a high turn over rate for years- we are trying to break that cycle, but have also grown and need additional highly-qualified staff and have not been given a pool of quality candidates
Desired Annual Outcome	Leaders have clearly defined roles and responsibilities so they know where to focus their time and energy. (Data analysis, ongoing content trainings, quality LP feedback, reteach plans, running effective meetings) At the end of the year this focus drives them to meeting their driving goals and achieving an A campus.	That the data will drive better instruction and teachers and leaders being able to catch gaps/misconceptions soon in order to form a better plan and reteach those skills. Students meet and master STAAR test.	Work closely with the district recruiters/regional director of staffing and go to trainings on hiring quality candidates.
Barriers to Address During the Year	Content trainings, conflicting priorities from HQ vs Campus needs and deadlines	Many teachers and leaders are new to their content or new to data analysis. They may not know what to look for and even if they do, they may not know what to do with the data to impact student learning.	Pool of teachers and co-teachers is usually not very strong in the middle of the school year.

District Commitment Theory of Action:	With a strong principal in place and weekly coaching from VP of Schools, Rundberg will use data to drive instruction and earn an A for the 2019-2020 school year.
